

Photography

Terms & Conditions

Bookings

Anthony Paul Photography offers a range of services and advertises through various channels, including BARK.com and social media platforms. When booking an event or portrait/headshot session, a 25% deposit is required at the time you agree to the Terms & Conditions for you to secure the hire of the photographer. This deposit is refundable only if the client cancels more than 14 days before the event. If the client cancels within the 14 days prior to the event the deposit will be forfeited. The remaining balance will be paid once the images have been presented online to view.

If you are looking at booking property services then no deposit is required.

Creative license is granted to Anthony Paul Photography to choose locations and poses and exercise professional judgement on photo style and the number of photos taken. Although every effort will be made to take all requested photos, specific pictures, backgrounds, locations, or groups cannot be guaranteed due to weather conditions or the availability and willingness of subjects. Anthony Paul Photography cannot be held responsible for image faults beyond their control, such as subjects closing their eyes.

Anthony Paul Photography grants customers the right to store and print as many copies of the images provided from the event as they wish, subject to copyright law. The duplication of images for distribution is prohibited but permitted for presentation purposes only. All photos will be made available online for a maximum of 30 days.

While family, friends, and other guests are encouraged to take photos throughout the event with the approval of Anthony Paul Photography, they are the sole professional photographer for the event and reserve the right to organize poses and locations to suit.

In the unlikely event of total photographic failure, injury, sickness, or any act of God beyond the control of Anthony Paul Photography, their liability is limited to a full refund of all monies paid. The customer's statutory rights are not affected.

If Anthony Paul Photography cancels the photography for reasons beyond their control, their liability is limited to a full refund of all monies paid. If the event is cancelled prior to the event by the venue for reasons beyond their control, we will honour a full refund of your deposit.